Accidents Take Heavy Toll Over Eastern States Crack Passenger Train Is Derailed; Destruction High Pool Project Is Endorsed

Southern Railway's Crescent Limited Hurtles Bridge, Several Killed

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Atlantic Seaboard Lashed by Worst Storm in Many Years

By Associated Press
Death, terror and destruction rode Thursday on the tail of the maddest storm to strike the Atlantic seaboard in many years.

Death toll went well over a dozen with the derailment early Thursday morning of Southern Railway's Crescent limited as it hurtled a rain-soaked bridge spanning Anacostia river near Washington.

An engineer and firemen were killed. Thirteen passengers of the crew went to hospitals with injuries.

Tidal Wave

Other deaths included two persons aboard the battered coastal liner Madison, which reached Norfolk after a terrific battle with hurricane forces off the Virginia Capes Wednesday.

A small girl was electrocuted at Seaside, New Jersey. A motorist, driving in rain at Coatesville, Penn., figured in an accident and was killed.

Damage to property in eastern coast states ran into millions.

Secondmate Lycurgus Lawrence and Quartermaster Edward Corbett were washed from the deck of the liner Madison by what Captain William Heath said looked like a tidal wave. Damage at the Virginia beach alone was estimated Thursday at a million dollars.

Train Wreck

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Crescent limited, crack Southern Railway passenger train en route from New York to New Orleans, carried two engine men to death early Thursday and sent 13 passengers and members of the crew to hospitals when it derailed over a swollen stream near here.

A weakened bridge over the eastern branch of the Anacostia river, just outside of the capital, caused the disastrous wreck. Engine of the passenger train left the rails, plunging into a mud bank with operating cab submerged in the stream.

Engineer A. H. Brite of Washington, and J. H. Faye, of Perryville, Maryland, fireman, were killed.

A mail car and one coach hurtled ahead of the engine, landing diagonally across the tracks. A "dead-head" car was thrown into the stream and was almost completely submerged.

Four other cars hung precariously to the road bed, which were saved from a worse crash by couplings binding them together.

Several of the passengers injured were in a serious condition Thursday.

Federal Funds to Aid Teachers

7,000 to Be Helped Under Hopkin's Ruling Relief Program

LITTLE ROCK.—Seven thousand teachers and 250,000 school children of Arkansas may be affected, in varying degrees, by the ruling of Harry L. Hopkins, national relief administrator, authorizing the use of federal work relief funds to pay needy, unemployed teachers, it was estimated by officials of the Department of Education.

The Department of Education is co-operating with the state Emergency Relief Commission in mapping out a program for teachers' work relief to be submitted to Administrator Hopkins for approval.

Mr. Hopkins placed no limitation on the amount of money that may be spent by the state commission for this purpose, providing the requirements of the work relief policy are met.

Hence, the Department of Education is hopeful the commission may adopt and Mr. Hopkins approve a program that would give all rural schools of Arkansas an eight-month term in 1933-34.

Dr. H. A. Dawson, director of research and surveys for the Department of Education, was one of 20 experts on school finances at a conference at Columbia University, New York city, whose report motivated Mr. Hopkins' recent ruling.

Nurse Withdraws Assault Charges

Expects to Marry Soon and Wishes to Avoid Publicity

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Miss Eugenia Rose, 23, Evanston nurse who accused Cecil Smith, America's second ranking polo player, of a criminal assault, Wednesday night announced that she would not prosecute the case, scheduled for a hearing Friday. Authorities notified in a letter from her of the decision, cancelled the $5,000 bond posted by Smith and his friends. Smith left at once for Long Island, N. Y., where he is overdue for practice for a polo tournament scheduled next month.

Miss Rose said in the letter the reason she dropped the case was that she expected to marry soon and wished to avoid publicity. Smith was accused of attacking her in a wooded area as he took her home from a hospital where she had been assigned to care for a polo player injured during the East-West polo meet here.

Cotton Conference Is Called for August 28

BATON ROUGE.—(AP)—Calling of a conference of Southern senators and commissioners of agriculture, and any one else interested, for August 28 in Birmingham, Ala., to draft a 1934 cotton production control program, was announced late Wednesday by Commissioner of Agriculture Harry D. Wilson.

Wilson, president of the Cotton States Commissioners of Agriculture, said he was co-operating with Senator J. H. Bankhead of Alabama in promoting the conference, saying he and the senator agreed that immediate steps should be taken toward limiting next year's cotton crop.

The commissioner said he personally was in favor of controlling production by regulating ginning, asserting that such regulation would be simplified by the national government's program calling for the licensing of gins.

Second Car Wreck on Fulton Highway Injures 2 Persons

E. O. Dill, Longview, Texas, Rams His Car Into Negro Automobile

WRECK AT SPRUDELL

Parked Without Lights Is Charged—Negro Suffers From Hemorrhages

The second automobile accident on the paved Fulton road this week sent a white man and a negro to Josephine hospital Wednesday night with painful injuries.

E. O. Dill, 30, Texas and Pacific railroad man with headquarters in Longview, Texas, sustained gashes about the head and legs. His condition is painful but not serious, physicians said.

Jack Johnson, negro, was the most seriously injured. He is suffering from severe hemorrhages as the result of deep cuts about the head.

The accident occurred near Sprudell, 11 miles west of here, about 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

No Lights Is Charged
Dill, driving alone in a Ford coupe, rammed his car into the rear of the negro automobile. Dill was en route from Longview to Hot Springs. He claimed the negro car was parked without lights.

The negro denied the charge, saying he was driving "slow with the lights burning." Both cars were considerably damaged. Johnson lives near Red Lake. Several other negroes occupied the car with Johnson, but were not injured.

Dr. J. F. Williams of Texarkana, was painfully injured late Monday night near Guernsey when his automobile was knocked off the highway by a negro driver who fled. Officers said Thursday the negro had not been arrested.

Bandits Escape From Officers

Three Desperadoes Flee Under Rain of Gunfire—Bloodhounds on Trail

CLARKSVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Three alleged bandits, one of whom was identified as Joe Hutchinson of Spadra, and the other two believed to be Clifton Harback and Leo (Sleepy) Scarborough, escaped under a rain of bullets near here Wednesday after they were surrounded by officers from two counties.

Sheriff G. W. Ladd, Johnson county, Sheriff M. L. Ledgerwood, Franklin county, Deputy Sheriff Foster Harbin, Clarksville, and Champ Crawford of Franklin county surrounded the home of Hutchinson's mother, Mrs. Susie McKinney, five miles west of here, but the trio dashed in to the woods under heavy gunfire.

The group was a part of a larger posse which concentrated search in this area Wednesday for the three bandits after an automobile, stolen at Fort Smith ten days ago, was found abandoned here. The car was said by officers to have been used in the robberies in this vicinity during the past week.

Bloodhounds Wednesday night were on the trail of the fugitives. Officers said they expected to capture the men shortly.

Clifton Harback, tentatively identified as one of the three, escaped from jail at Paris last week while facing murder and bank robbery charges. His brother, Gene, is held at Paris on the same charges.

"Sleepy" Scarborough, notorious Arkansas bandit, is an escaped convict from a state prison farm. He had nearly a score of years to serve.

Kiss Causes Shooting

A kiss stolen in the garden of Chicago's fashionable Lake Forest Country Club was "just the kind you'd give a baby," according to Eric Scudder who stole it. And Mrs. Emily Engelbach King, left, who received the caress, says it didn't mean anything. But her husband, Albert Cleveland King, Scudder's business associate, who had seen the exchange, had to do some fast explaining when he appeared in court as pictured here and claimed the shot fired when Mrs. King returned to her apartment was accidental and not intended for her, as she charged.

Senate Passes Audit Measure

Harry J. Lemley of Hope May Get Reappointed to Commission

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Stripped of a provision which authorized State Comptroller Griffin Smith to aid in the audit, the house bill for continuation of the state highway audit was passed Wednesday night by the senate. It was returned immediately to the house which concurred in the senate amendments and made it a special order for a final roll call Thursday morning.

It was reported during debate on the highway audit continuation bill that Governor Futrell has indicated that he will appoint three members of the old Audit Commission as members of the new commission. They were said to be Harry J. Lemley of Hope, S. M. Casey, Batesville, and V. W. St. John, Mena.

Members of the continued commission will receive $5 a day while on duty and actual expenses incurred in transacting official business.

Bailey to Fight Removal Order

Notorious Desperado Wants Trial in Texas Officers Keep Guard

DALLAS, Texas.—(AP)—The Dallas Times Herald says Harvey Bailey, held here for the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel of Oklahoma City, will contest to the fullest extent any effort to remove him from this state.

The paper says a Fort Worth law firm retained to represent R. G. Shannon, on whose farm near Paradise, Texas, Bailey was caught, and three members of his family also will represent him. The firm was said to be negotiating with a group of Dallas lawyers to aid in Bailey's defense.

The Fort Worth offices of the attorneys are being kept under close scrutiny by federal agents, the paper says, on the belief that George Kelly, sought also as one of the kidnapers, might venture to contact legal aid either personally or through a representative.

Why People Run Off From Home Explained

"Hysterical Fugue" Is Name Doctors Give to Strange Disappearances

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

At a recent meeting of the American Medical Association, considerable interest was given to a report by Dr. L. H. Ziegler of a condition called hysterical fugues.

For some hundreds of years the nature of hysteria has been recognized by physicians. During hysterical conditions various functions of the human body are disordered. Many of the usual activities of everyday life are disturbed, so that there are queer performances during eating, sleeping, working, remembering, listening or talking.

The word "fugue" comes from a Latin word meaning flight. The chief manifestation of hysterical fugue is the fact that the patient leaves home and makes a journey that cannot be justified by any reasonable motive. After the attack, the person who has been affected wakes up on an unknown road or in some strange place.

Strange Cases
As long ago as 1895, physicians listed three chief symptoms as typical of the fugue:

- 1—An irresistible impulse to travel.
 - 2—The fact that the travel is accomplished without any accident and in an intelligent manner.
 - 3—When the patient wakes up he has complete loss of memory as to what occurred during the flight.
- Readers will remember a recent case of this character, involving an important individual, namely, that of

Hope Committee Gets Quick Action at Capital Hearing

"Exactly Type of Community Project Federal Government Desires"

NO ADDITIONAL TAX Little Indication of Red-Tape—Roosevelt Wants Action

By ALEX. H. WASHBURN
LITTLE ROCK, (Special).—Hope's municipal natatorium project was endorsed by the United States public works advisory board at a hearing Thursday morning "as exactly the type of community project the federal government desires on which to spend three and a half billion dollars in public work funds."

There will be no liability whatsoever for Hope city taxpayers, the board told the Hope committee of aldermen and civic representatives. Plans and specifications may be submitted by a non-profit community corporation, to which the city would deed the natatorium site. The community corporation would then obtain the entire construction cost from the federal government, the only collateral being the real estate, swimming pool, and its revenues, without recourse against city taxpayers.

No Red-Tape
The board recommended a pool at least 50 by 150 feet, to allow for school district water meets. Its architecture, specification and actual construction must be checked and supervised by federal authorities.

The Hope committee was received by Board Members Bennett of Little Rock, and Horner of Helena.

The interview was granted promptly on the committee's arrival shortly before noon. With little indication of red-tape, Commissioner Horner declared "There won't be any red-tape in the public works administration—President Roosevelt wants action."

Appearing for Hope were: Aldermen W. A. Lewis and L. A. Keith, and the Rev. Wallace R. Rogers, W. S. Atkins, attorney, and A. H. Washburn, publisher of Hope Star.

Kiss Shooting Case May End

Believe Reconciliation Near in Kissing and Shooting Episode

CHICAGO.—While principals in the Knollwood Country club kissing episode insisted that the case would be fought to a decision, their strange silence Wednesday bore out reports that a settlement was in prospect.

Albert Cleveland King of 532 Stratford place, who fired a shot in his apartment when his wife came home after being kissed by Eric Scudder, his business partner, is due to return to court Friday on her charge of assault to commit murder.

Mrs. King, who is still in retirement at an apartment in the Lake Shore Drive Hotel, near that of the Scudders, was not talking, and neither was her husband or Mr. and Mrs. Scudder.

King, who is vice president, and Scudder, the president, both stayed away from the Citrus Products company at 11 E. Austin avenue, in which they have been associated for four years.

"They're going to make up," said another official of the Kings. "They love each other and have two children. I wouldn't be surprised if they've made up already."

"The court action will be dropped. Mrs. King didn't want to sign that complaint, but was talked into it by one of the party who didn't like Mr. King."

5 Negroes Jailed Here in Robbery

Part of Loot Taken From Washington Store Is Recovered

Five negroes were held in the jail Thursday in connection with the W. H. Stingley store robbery at Washington three weeks ago.

Charles Thornton and Otha Frison are charged with the actual robbery. Pete Towers, Buddie Turner and Boston West, are held for receiving stolen property. All are Hempstead county negroes with police records, officers said.

Loot taken from the Stingley store approximated $100. It consisted mostly of merchandise, part of which has been recovered.

After a three-week search launched by Special Agent Middlebrooks of the L. & A. railroad, Deputy Sheriff Allen Shipp and Constable Thornton Burns of Bodcaw, the negroes were picked up one by one until all were in custody Thursday.

Officers of Sheriff John L. Wilson's department said Otha Frison, Pete Towers and Buddie Turner were "supposed" to be in the county jail serving sentences for other crimes at the time of the robbery, but had been released to a road camp near Washington for highway work. Some of the loot was recovered near the camp.

The Stingley store was entered one night three weeks ago.

First NRA Violation Complaint at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS.—The local NRA organization Wednesday demonstrated that the act upon which President Roosevelt pins his faith as the medium through which prosperity is to return to the nation is not devoid of teeth when the Compliance Committee, of which Rabbi A. B. Rihine is chairman, heard the first complaint of code violation. It was filed by a young woman who charged that her employer, in order to get a Blue Eagle, had increased her wages and that as soon as the emblem was displayed in the window of his establishment promptly cut in half the salary she was to receive.

The complaint was made in writing and the employer will be given a chance to answer.

First Measure in 18 Years to Permit Sale of Beverage

Places Signature to Bill Without Waiting for It to Be Enrolled

SESSION IS ENDED Virtually All Measures Proposed by Governor Are Passed

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Completing action on virtually all measures it was called to enact, the Arkansas legislature adjourned its special session at noon Thursday.

Final brief sessions of the two branches of the legislature were marked by formal passage of beer legislation and subsequent signing of bill by Governor Futrell, and of bills to continue the highway audit and permit installment payment of property taxes in the future by the house.

Only one major measure which was advocated by the governor failed of passage. It would have reorganized the department of education through repeal and virtual re-enactment of an act of last regular session since it was referred to the people for a vote in the next general election.

Some emergency legislation was to permit the state to share fully in federal public works and recovery programs and national bank guarantees act.

Another bill passed permits taxpayers to redeem land offered to the state for taxes by paying accumulated taxes without penalties up to next January 1 and authorizing payment of taxes in future in three equal installments, April, July and October.

Governor Futrell signed the bill at 4:13 a.m. Thursday without waiting for it to be enrolled. Legislators who helped pilot the measure through the special session witnessed the signing which was the first time in 18 years a legal measure was in force to permit sale of beverages of any alcoholic content.

For some time beer had been sold openly in many cities and towns of the state.

No Price Change Here
Retail beer dispensaries operating in Hope maintained prices of 20 cents per bottle or 2 for 34 cents Thursday. Whether prices would be cheaper was undetermined as Arkansas formerly legalized the sale of beer.

Immediately after word was received that Governor Futrell signed the beer bill, Ritchie Grocery company started unloading and trucking two car loads of Budweiser beer to nearby towns.

Luther Hollamon told The Star he was expecting two carloads of the famous Schlitz beer to arrive sometime Thursday afternoon.

Before the city council authorized sale of the beverage in Hope several weeks ago, putting a license fee of $150 per year on it, beer sold at 25 and 30 cents per bottle.

Prescott Mill Will Resume Operations

Industrial Wheels Turning for Ozan Lumber Co.—$4,000 Payroll

PRESOTT.—The first whistle blew Wednesday at the Ozan Lumber Company mill, setting the wheels of industry to turning for the first time in several years, putting 75 or a hundred men back to work and adding $4000 more to the monthly payroll.

Although all the machinery has been set up for operation of the newly constructed lumber plant, the cutting of timber will not swing into full operation until the latter part of the week, when once more saws will begin to hum.

Reconstruction of the plant was begun July 5, tearing away the smaller mill that had ceased operation for several months and with the building of the new industry, will be equipped to produce approximately 25,000 feet of lumber daily or a carload, it was stated by an official.

More than 75 men will be effected with the complete operation of the mill log cutters, truckers and others connected with the production of the finished product, and will raise the number of idle hands to be given work clear of the 135 mark.

What is man but an ant, in this universe scheme?
Though dear his ambition, and precious his dream,
God's messengers speed all unseen on their way,
And the plans of a lifetime go down in a day.
No matter. The al of the Infinite mind,
Which lies back of it all, must be great, must be kind.
Can the ant or the man, though ingenious and wise,
Swing the tides of the sea—set a star in the skies?
Can man fling a million of worlds into space,
To whirl on their orbits with system and grace?
Can he color a sunset, or create a seed,
Or fashion one leaf of the commonest weed?

But souls who have sought to eliminate self.
And the one thing to do in the brief little space,
Is to make the world glad that we ran in the race.—E. W. W.

Remove Thin Skin
There is a thin film over the outside flesh of a pepper that is quite indigestible. This should be removed no matter how the pepper is to be served. To do this, dip pepper in scalding water and let stand two minutes. Dip into cold water and rub off the thin coating.

Remember, too, that even in sweet peppers the seeds are bitter and be sure that all the seeds and white fiber are removed before serving in any fashion.

Peppers are good stuffed with a combination of vegetables or with a rice combination. Corn and green beans or lima beans, corn and tomatoes, carrots and peas, carrots and cabbage—the combinations are innumerable.

"Tugboat Annie" Tickles and Tugs

Story of "Lady Skipper" Gets Laughs and Tears at Same Time

Screen fans, who have been clamoring for a return to the screen of Marie Dressler and Wallace Berry ever since "Min and Bill," have their wish granted at the Seils, where "Tugboat Annie," with the beloved Marie as the redoubtable feminine tugboat skipper of Pudget Sound, is now playing.

Based on Norman Reilly Raine's Saturday Evening Post stories, filmed on actual locales, with real thrills of ship rescues in storms, and the amazing feat of Berry who repairs a boiler, by going into a blazing firebox at sea, the new picture shows the pair in comical quarrels, mingled with episodes of poignant heart interest.

An elaborate cast includes Robert Young and Maureen O'Sullivan as the young lovers, Willard Robertson, Turman Young, Frankie Darro, Jack Pennick and Paul Hurst in waterfront character roles. Clever camera work and the maritime thrills, storms and adventures adds a tang of excitement to the vivid new production.

Three Will Face Charge of Murder

Sebastian County Farmer Dies as Result of Gun-shot Wounds

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(AP)—Conrad Moody, 26-year-old farmer of Massard, near here, who suffered gunshot wounds the night of August 9 in what officers said was a gun fight south of here, died today.

Charges of murder will be filed against three companions of Moody at the time of the fatal shooting, Prosecuting Attorney Harrell Harper said tonight. The men are Chester McClure, Riley Williams and Robert Barnett, who originally were arrested shortly after the shooting and charged with assault with intent to kill.

Coroner Hugh Johnson Wednesday held that an inquest was not necessary. Moody refused to make a statement to officers before his death.

The three men related that the party of Fort Smith men and three women from here had stopped their automobile a few miles south of the city, when three men appeared and ordered them to throw up their hands. When the Fort Smith men refused to comply, a gun fight ensued in which Moody was fatally shot and Barrett slightly wounded.

No reason was given for the attack.

able. Left-over cooked vegetables can be used or fresh ones specially prepared, and used alone or in combinations.

Planked dishes and vegetable "plates" gain much by the addition of peppers stuffed with some appetizing combination. A combination of rice and cheese moistened with tomato juice is an appetizing stuffing for the vegetable plate meal.

Stuffing for Peppers

Raw sweet peppers can be filled with almost any wanted salad combination. From fruit to fish, the delicate spiciness of sweet peppers blends appetizingly. A fruit salad garnished with filled sweet pepper rings gains nourishment as well as interest. Blend soft cream cheese with finely chopped nuts. Pack in well shaped sweet peppers which have been blanched and freed from pith and seeds. Let stand on ice for several hours to chill and become firm. Cut in slices about one-half inch thick and serve one or two slices on each salad.

Too often careless cooking sends to our tables potatoes which have lost much of their natural food value. Simple as potato cookery is, it nevertheless requires thought and vigilance to prepare perfectly even so common a dish as plain boiled potatoes.

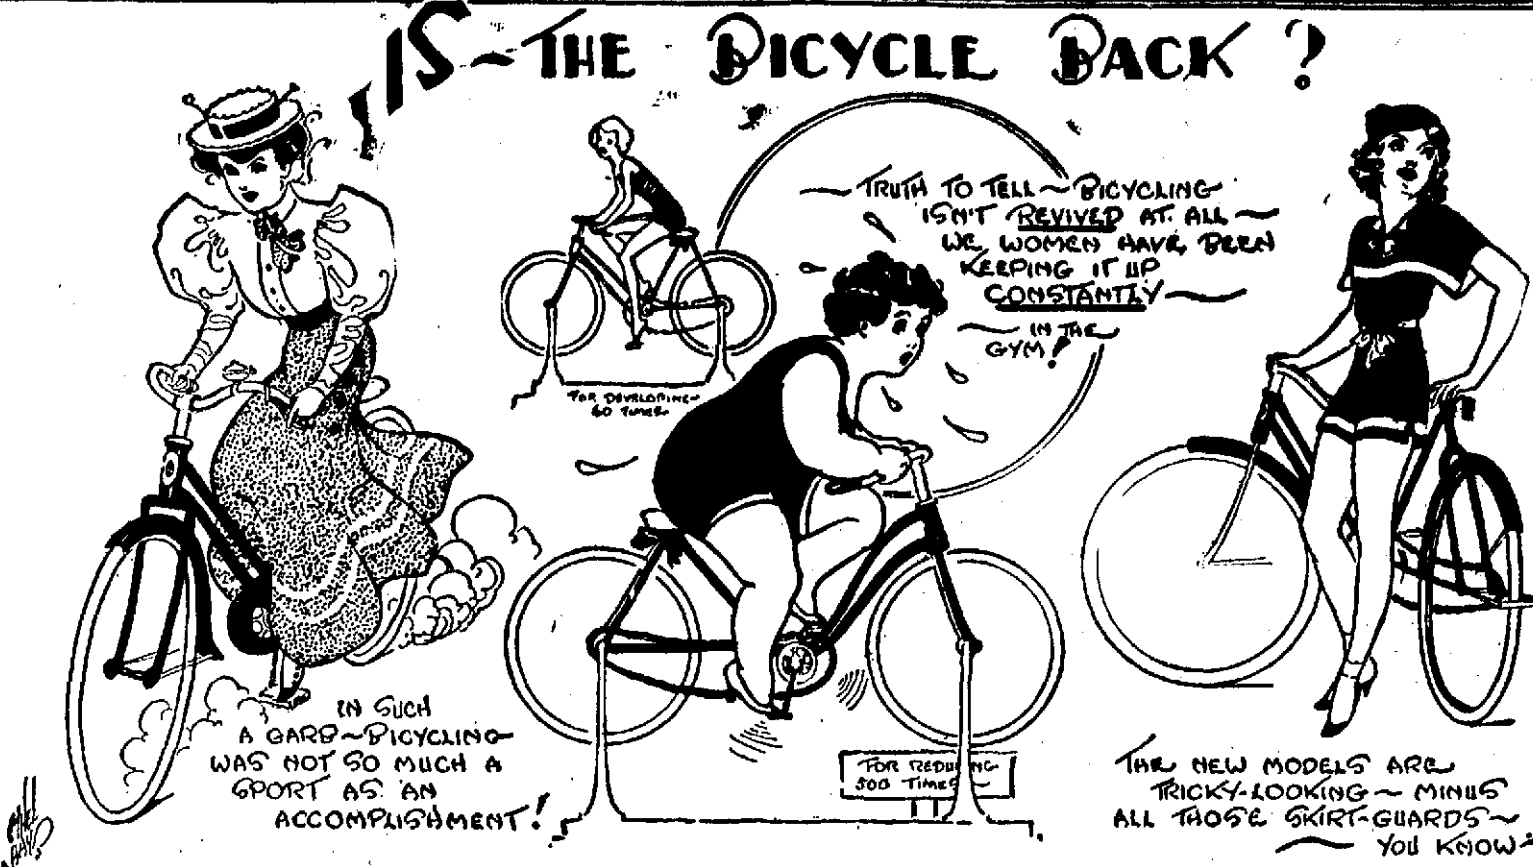

Children generally like potatoes and if the vegetable is properly cooked it gives good returns for the money invested. The time-honored combination of "meat and potatoes" is founded on merit. Irish potatoes are low in vitamin A, medium in B and good in C. They also contain an alkaline salt which is beneficial in offsetting the acid-forming salts of meat. Herein lies their value as an accompaniment to meats. They aid materially in reducing the acid condition of the body and tend to keep it in good condition. Potatoes resemble the dark cereals as a source of iron. One medium sized potato yields the same amount of iron grams as one slice of beef 2 3/4 by 1 1/2 by 3/4 inches.

Saving Mineral Water

The following suggestions will help you to prepare potatoes so as to get the greatest percentage of food value. When potatoes are pared and allowed to stand in cold water before cooking, much of the protein and mineral matter is lost. Mineral matter is wasted, too, when potatoes are peeled and put on to cook in cold water. Peeled potatoes cooked in boiling water and salted when almost done lose less of their food value, but unpeeled potatoes, baked or steamed, lose none of the food value. Boiled potatoes should be cooked in as little water as possible in a closely covered sauce pan.

Potatoes for boiling may, of course, be peeled or unpeeled, but since valuable mineral salts and nutrients are lost in the water during cooking when potatoes are peeled, it's advisable to cook them in their "jackets." If potatoes are preferred cooked without the skins, they should be pared as thinly as possible and the water in which they are cooked used in the meat gravy or a soup for some other meat.

With potatoes so scarce and high this year, it behooves every homemaker to make the most of this vegetable and avoid all loss of food value and waste of material.

'Open Shop' Phrase Banned in Codes

Industries Cannot Write Agreements to Suit Selves, Says Johnson

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Any and all attempts of industries to interpret in their codes the collective bargaining labor section of the recovery act were ruled out of order tonight by Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator.

By settling the long-disputed question, the administrator put the bituminous coal and automobile industries on notice that their codes, now pending, must be altered to eliminate proposed qualifications of the law which guarantees to labor the right to organize in any way it desires for negotiating with employers.

The administrator's statement, concurred in by Donald R. Richberg, NRA's general attorney, said, however, that "the law does not prohibit the existence of a local labor organization, which may be called a company union and is composed only of the employees of one company."

No immediate reaction to the statement was forthcoming from the spokesmen for industry, but officials predicted it would clear the air of much of the controversy between capital and labor.

The statement came at the end of a perplexing day for the NRA during which no one attempted to fix definitely the state of Johnson's negotiations to bring the coal and automobile industries under codes quickly.

President Roosevelt was described by Simpson as watching every development carefully and as standing behind the insistence of Johnson that conflicting elements of the two industries must come together quickly to take their place in the recovery program.

Although the steel industry, which operates a so-called company union or organization of each plant's employees, and other industries now under codes had been forced by the administration to withdraw their proposed interpretations of the controversial section 7, the automobile non-union segments of the coal groups had stood by their guns.

Only today the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce submitted a revision to its code stating flatly that an "open shop" means employees need not be affiliated with a union.

Unscrambling Hies and Shes

The vicar awarding prizes at the local dog show, was scandalized at the costumes worn by some members of the young fair sex.

"Look at that youngster," said he; "the one with cropped hair, the cigarette and breeches, holding two pups. Is it a boy or a girl?"

"A girl," said his companion. "She's my daughter."

"My dear sir!" The vicar was flustered. "Do forgive me. I would never have been so outspoken had I known you were her father."

"I'm not," said the other. "I'm her mother."—Grit.

Hoover Is Played by Detroit Priest

Former President Blamed With Bankers for Financial Crash

DETROIT.—(P)—His voice ringing through a courtroom jammed to the doors, the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin Wednesday denounced the "philosophy" of Herbert Hoover during his administration, condemned bank methods, and charged two closed national banks here were wrecked by the philosophy that money in the hands of the masses is a menace.

His dramatic testimony came during his first day on the witness stand before the one-man grand jury investigating the closing of the two banks, the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce.

Scores were unable to force their way into the packed courtroom as the nationally known priest went on the stand. Father Coughlin spared no words in his charges; his testimony ranged from a lengthy and colorful explanation of his theory of the business depression to breath-taking attacks on local bankers.

Ghost Horses

There was a horse among the also-rans the other day that must have awakened glowing memories of not far distant greatness among those who saw him struggle in. The horse was Mate, and he finished out of the money in a four-horse race.

A day or so later a little pony of a horse—with a big heart, however—finished a snappy sixth in a small field of selling platers. The name was Clyde Van Dusen, winner of the Kentucky Derby four years ago.

Days of Glory

Two years ago, there was a lively argument over the selection of a champion three-year old. A majority went to Twenty Grand, winner of the Kentucky Derby that year, the Jockey Club Cup, the Dwyer Stakes, Belmont Stakes and other rich fixtures. But there still are many who insist Mate proved himself the better horse.

Mate ran third in the Belmont Futurity three years ago, behind Jamestown and Equipoise. As a two-year-old he also won the Breeders' Futurity, the Champagne Stakes, the Spalding Lowe Jenkins handicap, the Walden and others.

As a three-year-old he was a better horse than Equipoise at the same age, but now as Mate lurks in the shadows, Equipoise is carrying on to greatness as a five-year-old. Probably Mate's finest race was the 1911 Preakness he won from Twenty Grand, tying Coventry's record of 1:59 for the mile and three-sixteenths.

A $73,000 Purse

At the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter that year, Mate was hard to beat though he did trail. Twenty Grand and Sweep All under the wire in the Derby. He won the American Derby at Chicago, setting a new record of 2:04 1-5. He won the Bowie Handicap at a mile and a half in the good time of 2:32, and the $73,000 Arlington Classic in the splendid time of 2:02 2-5.

Keeping in trim between races, Mate went up to Horoto and won the Stanley Product purse at Woodbine without even rolling up his sleeves, and went on to prove his ability to run on all kinds of tracks by coping the Thanksgiving handicap at Bowie.

But that was two years ago. Now Mate runs fourth in a four-horse race. And Clyde Van Dusen, the "little wonder" of 1929, eats dust all the way. That's the way it goes, as Sweeney says—you're here today and on your vacation tomorrow.

The Big Ride

Baseball always has been a merry-go-round. A few of the players get a nice long ride and even catch the brass ring, but for most of them it's just a half dozen turns, a few ineffectual grabs at that brass ring, and then they go whirling off into the minors and day-labor.

But it's the coming up into the big time and the going down into the bushes that makes fodder for old Gus Fan, who has nothing to lose but his three cents.

New faces are coming up into the big time at a great rate these days, as the managers make a strenuous effort to get a line on their next year's effort by actually seeing the bushers in action.

Coming Events

Connie Mack's wobbling Athletics have a sprinkling of new faces that forecast a big shakeup this winter. It's been pretty clear that the A's aren't going anywhere as they are at present. It's the old story that after you've built up a winner, there's nothing to do but break it up and start over.

The youngsters at Philly seem to have drunk deeply of the "take it easy" spirit which veteran teams almost always have. Mack, still carrying on at 70 (he's the oldest man ever to manage a major league club) is turning to youth again in the A's, though it's a question whether Connie can continue long enough to build another winner.

Mack is pretty keen for the Texas collegian, Frank Higgins, and he's planning to bring back Finney, the youth he's grooming for Al Simmons' place. Madjeski, catcher, and Williams, shortstop, look as though they're good for a few more turns on the merry-go-round, but Mack wants young pitchers. So you can look forward to a few new faces in his pitching corps.

Charlie Grimm's action in buying Adolph Camilli from Sacramento to take Grimm's own job, is another example. Camilli is a big powerful boy with a natural swing and a graceful fielding style he developed on the sandlots.

Another Fieldless Fielder

The Brooklyn Dodgers are tickled with Joe "Foodles" Hutchesson, the Memphis catchless wonder in the outfield. Hutchesson is apparently going after Babe Herman's crown as the worst flycatcher ever seen, and is reported ready to play in a shrapnel helmet to keep high ones from bouncing off his dome. But he plasters any and all pitching out of the lot, and that's what Brooklyn needs.

While these new faces look down from the wooden horses of the big

I THOUGHT I was through

What made you listen?
Why didn't you stay?

FOR now I'm recalling
Small words that you said;
Life of your laughter,

This place and that place
Where we used to meet.

SHOULD you discover
I'm still fond of you,
Would you believe me—
Or what would you do?

for enforcement of provisions of the newly approved lumber code.

Lee Robinson, president of the hardwood manufacturers institute, came here from Mt. Vernon, Ala., to preside. The institute has been designated as an enforcement authority for Southern and Appalachian territory.

The meeting will decide lumber allotments to various mills. Lumber Code Authority, Inc., has fixed approximately 250,000 feet as the September quota with tentative quotas for October and November of the same amount.

"What we would like to have done years ago," Robinson said Thursday, "has been accomplished under this code." We hope very much the public will be able to pay large additional costs resulting from cutting our mills from the 60 hour week to 40, and advancing wages per hour to the 24-cent minimum.

who also is a brother-in-law of Treece walked into the courtroom and stood empty of hope brighten to a new promise. Thousands have found honorable livelihood. A vast American market—a new frontier of industry reopens,—bringing sorely needed business to farmers, transportation and to hundreds of other industries.

And with it, a new fountain head of tax revenue has arisen to add its dollars gladly to a nation in need.

Beer is back! But is that all? No!
To cheer, to quicken American life with hospitality of old, the friendly glass of good fellowship is back.
Sociability and good living return to their own, once more to mingle with memories and sentiments of yesterday. America looks forward —and feels better... Beer is back!
Yes! But much more than that.
Beer at its best is back—the king of bottled beers that outsold any other bottled beer on earth.
